E – LANGUAGE SKILLS

Note:

The scale refers to the ALTE system:

A1 = no competence	B1 = lower intermediate	C1 = advanced
A2 = basic competence	B2 = upper intermediate	C2 = highly advanced

(for further information: http://www.alte.org/can_do/framework/index.php)

Non native speakers must demonstrate their proficiency level in all languages of the consortium with a test result. Certified copies of the test result must be included in the application. English is considered as a "support" language. The expected levels for admission are: DALF C1 for French; CELI 3 for Italian; ZD for German; TOEFL 450 for English.

You may also use a separate sheet to list all professional or academic experiences/activities proving your knowledge of any given language (years of study, attendance of specific courses, etc.)

Evaluate your competence in French:

A1 A2 B1 B2 C1 C2 native speaker

Evaluate your competence in Italian:

F – MOTIVATION LETTER

Please enclose a letter (no more than an A4 sheet), explaining your reasons for applying to the MACLANDS Masters degree. Applicants should demonstrate a strong interest and/or experience pertinent to the field of the Masters course – personal reasons, current situation, professional projects, specific skills...

The letter must be written in one of the languages of the consortium, and provided in 2 copies : one hand-written, one typed.

G – 4th SEMESTER MOBILITY

Applicants should indicate an order of preference for the 3 institutions for continuing their studies during the 4th semester. This will enable a suitable distribution of students and projects to be devised between the 3 institutions and will guarantee an effective and research-orientated study programme.

At the beginning of Semester 1, the academic team will assign a supervising professor to each student, whose skills and knowledge are applicable to the student's project and list of preferences. This professor will mentor the student during the first three semesters.

The student's initial project may develop in various ways during these three semesters. In this case, the attributed professor will recommend a new orientation. The student will be assigned another supervising professor who will be more experienced in the student's new orientation.

The final decision regarding the location for the 4th semester studies will be made by the consortium at the end of the 3rd semester. This decision will take into consideration the student's project, the course of the student's studies during the first three semesters and the student's ranking amongst his peers.

Please list your choices of institution for the 4th semester by order of preference/relevance to your project :

1st choice:

2nd choice:

3rd choice:

H – PROJECT

Please enclose an essay (max. 3000 words, not including annotations, references, bibliography...) describing the research/study project or professional project you intend to carry out during the Masters course.

This presentation should be written in one of the consortium's languages and should substantiate the motivation letter. This project should be presented in a scientific manner (annotations, references, bibliography...) to convince the jury of the student's capacities and of the standard of the student's project work.

The project should be in line with the Masters course subject matter and may also be relevant to a specific application in the applicant's country of origin.

I – REFEREES

1. To the applicant:

Please list the two persons you have asked to write a letter of recommendation for you. At least one of the referees should be a teaching professor who was able to observe you during the course of your studies. Referees can also be professional contacts (supervisors, managers, mentors...). The letters are to be printed or hand-written on official letterhead, signed and stamped.

Under no circumstances should an applicant review or prepare a letter of reference.

The applicant should receive the letters and/or forms in a sealed envelope, and these should be sent together with the application.
